People who have embraced their values and behaved with integrity, thus safeguarding and promoting the reputation of both the club and the national game at all times. A quote from Adam Lowthorpe, ex Hull City, North Ferriby and now Chief Executive Officer of the East Riding County FA:

"The culture of any club is determined through its leadership and clearly this is a strength of North Ferriby Football Club. Committed, passionate, decent people running the club, so whilst over many years players inevitably change, the ethos and values of the club remain the same. The dignified way the club operates ensures it is held in high regard by other clubs, former players and the wider football community".
